

Construction today is complicated. Join a community that makes it easier.

Running a construction business today means navigating a landscape that's constantly shifting—labour shortages, changing regulations, growing risk and economic pressure are all in play.

In uncertain times, you need more than tools. You need a network.

When you join your local construction association, you gain access to the insights, training and advocacy that help you lead with confidence. You become part of a connected, coast-to-coast community that amplifies your voice and strengthens your business. Together, we're building a smarter, safer and more resilient industry—one member at a time.

The network advantage

- Tools and resources you can trust

From standardized contract documents to industry best practices, get practical, trusted resources—developed by the industry, for the industry—to reduce risk, improve clarity, and keep your business aligned with evolving regulations and expectations.

- Training that keeps you ahead

Whether it's safety, leadership, digital tools or project delivery, our training programs help you and your workforce sharpen skills, meet demands and grow with the industry.

- Best practices that support smarter decisions

Make informed choices with access to evolving insights on procurement, prompt payment, safety and delivery models. Our curated guidance helps you adapt to a changing market and operate with confidence.

- Advocacy that amplifies your voice

With more than 18,000 businesses behind us, our network speaks with power at the local, provincial and national levels. Whether it's procurement modernization, workforce development or infrastructure investment, we take your concerns directly to policymakers—so construction businesses like yours can thrive.

- Events that build connections

Our members are diverse, but our purpose is shared. Through events, conferences and regional networking, you'll meet peers, experts and future partners that will enable you to spark new ideas, create new business and build a stronger industry.

Join your local construction association to strengthen our businesses and industry together. www.jointhenetwork.ca and QR code.

